Rugg began manufacturing wooden hay rakes in Montague, Massachusetts in 1842. With the fifth generation of Rugg family members managing the growing business, the Company continues to emphasize innovative and functional products for the home, yard and garden. The Yankee ingenuity, craftsmanship and dedication put into Rugg products since 1842 are the foundation of a long and successful history. They serve well in responding to the challenges of the 21st century.

Rugg Manufacturing Company's products now exceed 100 snow tools and lawn & garden tools, which are distributed internationally. These include Rugg's popular BACK-SAVER® bent-handled snow shovels, lawn rakes and broom, conceived by William Rugg to "put the bend in the handle and not in your back."

With a product base ranging from the original wood hay rake through state-of-the-art ergonomically designed BACK-SAVER® tools, Rugg will continue to provide an expanding consumer base with new and more useful tools. Rugg's history of product innovation, employee and family involvement and long-standing links to the local community are great strengths. The company intends to capitalize on these as it expands current product lines, opens new markets and explores new opportunities.

Rugg flair for inventing ingenious products and introducing manufacturing innovations is evident in the following Rugg Manufacturing Company's condensed product introduction chronology:

- 1842 Manufacturing begins on Rugg's first product, a wooden hay rake.
- 1879 One of the first snow shovels – made entirely of wood.
